

Construction Management: Understanding and Leading an Ethical Project Team

The Latest Book from the Renowned Author of “Construction Management: Subcontractor Scopes of Work”

~~$39.50~~ $32.99 A limited time offer

Available exclusively from our auxiliary website dedicated solely to the sale of books written by CAP Founder and Principal Jason G. Smith.

www.ConTrainOrg.com

ISBN 978-0-615-40314-4

Packed Full of Management Techniques, Case Studies, Examples and Lessons that Help Ensure Every Member of a Project Team Performs their Role in a Fair and Ethical Manner

This hard hitting book focuses on proactive leadership skills and techniques that will prevent unethical situations from arising and becoming damaging to a project. This is in contrast to a discussion on how to reactively deal with unethical issues after they have already occurred. A heavy emphasis is placed on the topics of leadership and ethics as they relate to the management of major construction projects.

This book absolutely does not simply explain what common unethical acts are, as this would be stating the obvious. This book elaborates to provide management techniques that can be implemented to ensure each member of the project team is performing their individual role in a competent and ethical manner. This elaboration on proven management techniques is what makes this book truly valuable. The advice, examples and lessons learned contained in this book have been attained from a long, storied and successful career in the construction industry.

Key Features:

- Learn how to manage and lead a project team in a manner that ensures every individual team member is performing their job in an ethical manner.
- Understand the personal accountability we all have for every decision we make.
- This book provides a series of real-life examples and proven management techniques, not theoretical discussions.
- The primary focus is on financial matters, such as bidding, subcontract negotiations and change order issues.
- Provide professional level training to your company. By utilizing the series of multiple choice tests available from CAP, employees can study the book when convenient and take tests proctored by the human resources department.

About the Author:

Jason G. Smith, LEED AP, Certified Construction Manager
Founder and Principal of Construction Analysis and Planning, LLC, Los Angeles, CA

CAP Book Sales: 1028 Seventh Street, Suite 203, Santa Monica, CA, 90403 Phone: 310-998-7781 Fax: 310-458-1641